

Can I make alterations to my Bournehurst home?

We often get asked about making alterations to your new home – does living in a retirement village mean you don't really own the house? Are there restrictions on what you can do to your home?

As a Bournehurst homeowner you are entitled to alter your home as you wish – when you pick up that key the property becomes yours. That means, if you want to add a lick of paint somewhere or change the carpets – it's totally up to you! We are also on hand if you would like some help to make any larger modifications to your home. We know that organising work on your home can be a stressful process so why not use our in-house property experts to ensure it goes smoothly!

We do ask that you keep the outside of your home in keeping with the surrounding properties and external changes to your home such as building extensions will be subject to planning approval.

Of course, we hope that your Bournehurst home is perfect from the outset – we aim to deliver bespoke homes to suit your needs and the sales process will help to make sure it's just as you expect it.

Take a look at our menu of optional extras for your home, there's sure to be plenty of features that take your fancy!
